KAISER AT COWES

Royalty Laid Aside, He Becomes a Thorough Yachtsman.

CREATES A FAVORABLE IMPRESSION

Mr. Gladstone's Speech Attracts Attention.

CURRENT LONDON GOSSIP

(Copyrighted by the Associated Press.) LONDON, August 10.-It is more than probable that his in perial majesty of Germany, Kaiser Wilhelm, has enjoyed himself more than any dozen persons have at Cowes this week. His ficating palace, the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, was, as usual, the attraction of all, and the emperor, eaming with good health and spirits browned by the sun and full of energy, went here and there and everywhere, observed by everybody, admired by even the most dyspeptic.

It is difficult to feel anything but admiration for the handsome young ruler of the German empire, who seems to slip into he charges clothes. One day he is a Geron all the tricks of war; the next day he is a German admiral, a British dragoon or a British admiral, a yachtsman or an engistructor, a canal builder or a song writer, an author or a musician-everything; but always perfect in his part, well posted on

Indeed, it would seem that the kaiser enjoyed this year's visit to Cowes more than his previous visits. His comings and goings during the past week have been of a far less fermal character than those of other years. Consequently his majesty has been able to devote a great deal more time to yachting and to private visits to the vahas become more popular than ever be has become more popular than ever before.

The first impressions formed here of Emperor Will.am were that he was a very much stuck-up young man, of little or no real ability. Now people are beginning to see that the German emperor is, when the occasion demands it, keenly interested in everything happthing, a student of almost everything under the sun, and a "hail fellow, well met," when necessary. But, although Emperor William has been enjoying himself immensely at Cowes, he has, at proper intervals, been as hard at work as ever on affairs of state, rothing, apparently, escaping that untiring mind.

Immediately after his arrival off Cowes he had a private cable laid between the Hohenzollern and the post office at Cowes, the latter, in turn, being connected with London and the cable to Germany. So his majesty was able to keep himself constantly well informed upon state affairs, and the messages exchanged between himself and his representatives in Germany were forwarded and received as promptly and as safely as if the emperor had been at Potsdam instead of at Cowes.

The Kaiser's Ten Party.

The Kniser's Ten Party.

The tea party which the emperor gave on Thursday on board the Hohenzollern, arranged by himself, was to have been a most charming function, but, like many others, it was marred by the rain. His clety to his "afternoon tea" on the prom-enade deck of the imperial yacht. This casion and dotted with pretty little tea tables, while the whole vessel was fragrant with the perfume of a rich profusion of choice flowers sent by Queen Victoria from the conservatories of Osborne House. The fine band of the Hohenzollern played as fine band of the Hohenzollern played as only that marine band can play, and everything possible was done to make the reception a brilliant and memorable event. His majesty personally received his guests at the Hohenzollern's gangway, and they included the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duke of York, the Princess Louise and her husband, the Marquis of Lorne, and all the members of the aristocracy now at Cowes, particularly those who were introduced to the emperor during the recent series of festivities at Hamburg and at Kiel, upon the occasion of the opening of the Kaiser Wilhelm canal.

The brilliant costumes of the ladies, however, did not show up to great advantage ever, did not show up to great advantage beneath the leaden sky and moistureladen air, and though the event passed off very well it would have been much more lively and attractive had the sun deigned to smile upon the Soient and its adjacent shores. The emperor could have been seen nearly Yacht Sonadron Castle, looking a thorough yachtsmill in his setge jacket; yachting cap, white duck pants and russet leather shoes.

Mr. Gladstone's speech at Chester on Tuesday last on the Armenian question has, naturally, attracted considerable attention. not only in England, but throughout Europe. In many quarters it is looked upon as being a sharp slap at Lord Rosebery the ex-premier, and as directly supporting Salisbury in any steps the new government may take toward coercing the porte into doing something toward reform in Armenia. doing something toward reform in Armenia.
On the other hand, some of the London newspapers, the Post for instance, class Mr. Gladstone's utterances as being "dangerously mischievous," and as likely to kindle civil war in Turkey, which, according to the Post, may spread into an European conflagration and eventually threaten India with a renewal of the horrible scenes witnessed during the Sepoy mutiny of 1557.

But the Times took an entirely different view of the speech, remarking, editorially: "He did not say a word calculated to hamper Lord Salisbury's government. His impassioned rhetoric did not go beyond facts. If the speech assists, as it doubtiess will, in bringing about the desired consummation, he will be rewarded for an effort,

CONTINUED HIGH TEMPERATURE, But There May Be Some Showers This Afternoon,

Forecast till 8 p.m. Sunday-For New England and eastern New York, generally morning; southwesterly to westerly winds. An examination of the map shows a marked change from yesterday's map. Today a ridge of high pressue extends from the south Atlantic coast and the north Pacific coast. The low area in the Missouri valley has not moved away, but has filled up, and the transfer of conditions across the Rockies has given a slight high pressure in its place. Unfortunately, this changed condition does not mean very much relief to the heated condition of the eastern states. The atmosphere still continues stationary, and if this ridge of high pressure gradually collects in the southeast the heated term will continue. The enly prospect of relief exists in a possibility that 'he Missouri valley high area may retain an independent existence and move along the lakes. In such case the counter winds from the two highs would give frequent showers and cooler weather. Rain has fallen in the lower Missouri valley and in the Red River of the South valley.

The temperature will continue high till Monday, and possibly till Tuesday. There is a slight chance of the intense heat tomarked change from yesterday's map. To-unparalleled even as a mere physical achievement by a man of his age."

questioned by a representative of the Associated Press upon American politics the veteran editor said:

As to British politics, Mr. Halstead remarked: "I think that England is drifting toward an imperial policy, which, by the bye, seems to be the policy of al Europe, with the exception of France."

It was concluded that each member shall wear a white Fedora hat in the Labor day parade, but the making of further arrangements was postponed until Monday night, when a special meeting, which has been called for the purpose, will be held. Annourcement was made, however, that the union has secured the Fort Myer Band to head it in the parade.

The Association of Eccentric Engineers were entertained last night with an address by Prof. George E. Denton of Dunton's Electrical Institute on the "Production of Electrical Power."
